Myers was plaintly a bit nervous and he swung loosely at the first ball thrown by Shore, hitting it into the air back of the plate. It was an easy foul for Cady.

Jake Daubert, once slugging champion of the National League, was even more He fanned on three pitched balls, making it four in all that had left Shore's hand to retire two men. Casey Stengel, the walloping outfielder, took a strike and then tapped a roller to Janvrin for an

Harry Hooper, the Californian, one of the most dangerous hitters in the world in a big series, was the first to bat for the Sox, Marquard quickly slipped two strikes over on him. Then he wasted a couple, and finally Hooper fanned.

Harold Janvrin, once called the school-boy phenomenon, but now a seasoned big league player, also struck out. Marquard's fast ball seemed to be leaping and equirming like an eel. Clarence Walker, nicknamed "Tilie," stepped to the plate on his first appearance in a world series and he seemed cool and

Zach Wheat got an infield hit in Brook-lyn's half of the second. The next moment Cutshaw hit into a fast double play that passed from Jan-vrin to Scott and back to Hoblitzel. Mowrey walked and Ivy Olson, the fighting shortstop of the Dodgers, struck out. Marquard worked with great caution on Duffy Lewis, only to give him a case on Larry Gardner surprised the Dodger infield by bunting the ball, rolling in front of the plate. Meyers got it, but Gardner was easily safe at first and Lewis safe at second. The bunt went for a hit. Scott, the thin shortfielder of the Sox, also bunted and Meyers leaped forward and got the ball, this time throwing Scott out at first. The other two runners advanced, however.

This brought up Forrest Cady, and Mar-quard, Meyers and Robinson all remembered Forrest from 1972

Harry Hooper now made a marvelous play. Cutshaw lifted a high fly to right that caught in the wind and seemed about to fall safe. Wheat set himself at third for a flying start.

Just as the ball was about to hit the ground Hooper flung himself forward and made a catch. He fell in a sitting posture. Wheat left third, bound for home. Hooper jumped up and shot the ball in on a line to Cady. It was a perfect throw. Wheat made a long slide, but the decision was not even close. Mowrey grounded out.

Battle, 6 to 0.

College Park, Md., Oct. 7.—Playing the opening game of the season, Maryland State eleven today landed its initial victory over the Dickinson College team from Carlisle, Pa., by out-fighting the vis-itors during the entire thirty-six minutes' of actual playing. The margin of the victory was but six points, Coach Dunn's crew from above the Mason-Dixon line failing to register. Although this College Park clan out-fought the Pennsylvanians they did not outgame their rivals from Carlisle, as Capt. Mitchell and his sturdy bunch of black-cladded warriors, in the face of defeat, were fighting for every inch of ferritory, gained and lost.

territory gained and lost.

The result of the battle was a slight surprise to the most ardent followers of the State collegians, as the visitors came here with quite a reputation for holding Navy to a nothing-nothing tie. As this was the "Aggies" first contest, little was expected of them in offensive work, but the sensational line plunging and end running of McDonald, Coggins
